

Transaction Project Management

Whether representing the buyer, seller or lender, McGrathNicol Transaction Services delivers the comprehensive hands-on support clients require throughout a transaction.

Project management of transactions can provide a challenge to businesses when faced with limited resources and the demands of day to day operations. Moreover, specialist skills are often required which are not always retained in-house.

McGrathNicol Transaction Services Transaction Project Management will provide your organisation with support during all phases of a transaction.

Our Transaction Project Management includes:

- + developing and coordinating the transaction plan and timetable;
- + overall project management of transactions;
- + coordination of other service providers and key deliverables;
- + identifying necessary information to be included in a data room;
- + data room coordination;
- + assistance in appointing relevant external advisors; and
- + specialist resources to support short-term needs.
