

Media Release19 August 2008*Expressions of interest sought for Commander Communications Limited (“Commander Communications”)

Commander Receivers and Managers Peter Anderson, Chris Honey and Joseph Hayes of McGrathNicol today sought expressions of interest for the business and assets of Commander by 26 August 2008. This follows the appointment of Receivers and Managers to the Commander Communications Group on 7 August 2008. Commander continues to trade on a “business as usual” basis and there have been no interruptions to customers caused by the Receivership.

Two distinct Commander businesses are offered to market. The Managed and Professional Services business provides a complete range of business infrastructure management support in telecommunications and IT with a significant and long standing government and blue chip customer base.

The Telecommunications business provides a fully integrated service provider of telecommunications and IT business infrastructure solutions for small and medium size organisations supported by a national sales force and franchise network.

“Interest in advance of advertising has been very robust for both businesses. The work necessary to restructure these businesses to enable them to generate strong cash flows was largely completed by Management and we expect to consummate sales of the respective businesses over the next 10 to 12 weeks,” said Peter Anderson, Partner at McGrathNicol.
